Dear Mary,

We're back and a bit better. We've had a lot of fun this year, but we've also faced some challenges. Keep doing anything you like and be as much as possible your true self. I'd love to hear from you again.

I wouldn't miss the opportunity to see everyone, especially our family. This summer, we'll be free to do as we please and enjoy the weather. Please keep in touch and let me know how you're doing.

Love ya, muchly,

DEDICATION

In our school life we have learned to balance judgment and knowledge, friends and acquaintances, experiences and memories, work and play. To this balance, necessary for a happy and useful life, we dedicate The Echo of 1950.

Our administrators, high in ideals of leadership and responsibility and sound in philosophy and knowledge, set for us a pattern of well-balanced education.
Traveling life's highway is a fascinating adventure. Learning about the world with all of its mysterious wonders and about its people and their impact upon our lives makes every day teem with enjoyable experiences. Encountering new situations successfully is the substance of living. Life becomes a game when new responsibilities can be used as an avenue to new opportunities.

May the members of the Class of 1950 always have the vision and the courage to seek out those qualities of life which will bring happiness to themselves and to others.

—Leonard A. Steger.
In this highly technical, competitive era in which we live, all guide posts seem to point to specialization. No doubt, that to succeed in many highly competitive opportunities, we must excel in a certain talent or skill.

On the other hand, life goes beyond a livelihood. If it is lived richly and joyously, it calls upon our well-rounded, balanced self.

Also, to live in this closely-knit world of today, we must be able to speak the other man's "language", that of our immediate neighbor and co-worker and that of men in another hemisphere. We must appreciate the other man.

If Webster High has helped you to discover your real self, to give you a perspective for fitting into your best niche, and the desire to know and to appreciate others, you are on your way to balanced living.

We realize that balanced living is a necessity throughout our lives in that a variety of experiences are combined to form a firm foundation.

Webster students have been given the opportunity to balance their judgment and knowledge, friends and acquaintances, experiences and memories, work and play by their activity in student administration, in the classroom, on the athletic field, in club meetings, and through the student guidance system. The results of these experiences during high school years will remain with us after our graduation, adding richness and fullness to our living.

We firmly believe that by balanced living as experienced at Webster High we can best approach our secret dreams of happiness and success.

"As I said before . . ."  "A penny for your thoughts, Buck?"  "The motion before the house . . ."
The organization of the Guidance Council, which was sponsored by the Senior Student Council, was made up of four seniors, three juniors, and three sophomores, selected by their respective grades. Oliver Biederman, school president, and Buck Weaver, senior school president, were the leaders of the council. The purpose of the Guidance Council was to reinforce and "back up" the authority of the student guides.

When a student violates a student regulation—such as running in the halls or breaking into the lunch line—he is brought before the council. The members discuss with him his shortcomings and offer him friendly advice in order to prevent his repetition of the offense. Penalties are not assessed against an offending student, only discussion and advice take place in the council.

The Guidance Council has been in existence since 1948; however, the Student Guidance System was started in 1946 by a group called "Volunteers".

Lundstrom, Meffert, Kahmann, Durkee, Carlson, Kremer.
Gremp, Weaver, Steger, Biederman, Straub.
A new plan was tried this year in the Senior Student Council. In order to give more students the opportunity of participating in school government, the number of representatives from each grade was doubled. Two councils, which met during fifth hour on alternate days, were organized. Buck Weaver presided over one group and Oliver Biederman over the other. Sandra Smith and Clare Stevenson were elected secretaries of the councils, and Mr. Settle was sponsor for both sections.

The joint councils launched the school year by a Hello Day which was aimed to promote a greater feeling of unity among the students. Also to encourage school spirit, a football week was sponsored by the council. This enterprise was so successful that two more sports assemblies were given during the year—one to publicize the wrestling squad and one to usher in the baseball and track season.
Besides carrying out its traditional duties such as caring for the lost and found, the Senior Student Council did some particularly fine work in other fields. At the beginning of the year a Coca-Cola machine was installed which was operated by council members. Also this year the council sponsored the most successful magazine campaign ever held at Webster High. We reached the goal of $7500.

An example of the fine assemblies planned was an Inter-School Talent Assembly. On the social side an all-school carnival dance was given which was a smashing success.

With the introduction of guides into assemblies, the "dawn patrol", and the venture of honor study hall system, the student body was encouraged to take over more responsibilities in self-government. All in all, the year was a most successful one for the Student Council.

The junior school was known for its keen enthusiasm at games and in school projects this year. The Junior Student Council was noted for its skillful work in governing this lively group. Better ways to control hall and lunchroom conduct and to solve locker problems were discussed regularly at council meetings.

This council was headed by Dick Clement, president; Jim Brown, vice-president; Alan Klein, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Brantley, the sponsor. These capable officers were chosen by campaigns every bit as intense and exciting as those held in the senior school.

Each homeroom was represented by two students in the council. Reports of meetings were carried back to the homeroom for discussion.

This group topped its quota in the Magazine Sales Campaign, and joined in the fun of the all-school dance carnival, at which their basketball throw was one of the most successful booths.

Ever wonder why the junior school halls were so well regulated? Who left the lunchroom in such good order? It was all the work of the Monitors. These busy boys enforced the rules of safety and order in the junior school. They had to restrain hungry, cafeteria-bound students and teach seventh-graders to walk through the halls.

A Monitor could be recognized by the watchful glint in his eye and the maroon and gold badge on his arm. These new badges were symbols of membership in the National Association of Student Councils. Since the Monitors were controlled by the Junior Student Council, they were included in this membership.

The majority of Monitors were freshmen, but four eighth-graders also held some of the responsibilities of this group. Miss Brantley sponsored these future student guides, and Dick Clement acted as their captain.
Classes

Through contacts with good books, with the guidance of teachers, and by the interchange of ideas with classmates, we secure the knowledge which forms a balance for future experience.
In Memoriam

Mary Kathleen Wyrick

Mary was a friend to all.

Not once did she object to her handicap; not once did she complain of her suffering and pain. She always had a smile. She always looked for the silver lining of her cloud.

It took a brave heart and a courageous soul to do these things in the face of death, and she will stand forever as a living inspiration in the hearts of those who knew and loved her.

Besides enjoying this active year to the fullest extent, the juniors were busy planning for their senior and post-high school years. Miss Jones, counselor to the class, conferred with each student about his grades, class standing, and future program. Courses were arranged according to the individual's plans. Most students also participated in the College Day Program. There they listened to representatives from the schools in which they were interested. A committee was formed to take care of senior rings: thus the juniors began planning for a successful senior year.

This class chose Russell Simmons for its president, Louis Booth for vice-president, Joan Harrison for secretary, and Dan Kremer for treasurer. The officers united with the nine home-room presidents to form a governing cabinet. This group with Miss Toner, sponsor of the class, and representatives from each homeroom planned the Junior Prom. The committee decided to use the money obtained from the magazine sales and dues to engage Russ David's band for the dance.

Juniors
The juniors played against the seniors in a thrilling basketball game, and the final score was in favor of the seniors, 43-37. The eleventh grade was well represented in school organizations, such as varsity football and basketball, language clubs, G. A. A., Lettermen Club, A Cappella Choir, the Webster Echo, and The Echo. One junior helped lead cheers at all the games.

The advisers of this grade were Mr. Faes, Miss Baijley, Miss Oud, Miss Miller, Miss Schowengerdt, Mr. Schulz, Miss Sutherland, Miss Toher, and Miss Woods.

Juniors

This year the sophomore class got off to a lively start with the class dance. In a beautifully decorated gym Carol Von Hoffmann and Guy Kahmann were crowned queen and king for the evening. Everyone enjoyed the dance, from the band members to the master of ceremonies. And everyone bowed to the king and queen!

At the end of the year a big picnic was held at which baseball, badminton, and eating were the most popular sports. Miss McClain and the planning committee of the tenth grade did... a really good job of getting that picnic together. The officers of the class—Roy Nelson, president, and Guy Kahmann, vice-president—worked hard to plan all the dances, parties, picnics, and other get-togethers of the year. Perhaps the good officers were the reason for the success of the class. 1949-'50 was one of the best seasons any class has ever had.

The sophomore year was the first time for many experiences in the lives of the tenth-graders. It was in this year that they first voted for kings and queens, joined senior school clubs, and ate lunch with the mighty seniors and the almost-as-mighty juniors! They voted for senior school president, had lockers in the senior building, and had study periods in the Big Study Hall. In spite of all the unappreciated responsibility and the increase of homework, the sophs loved every minute of their short year in the tenth grade.

Parker, Mullen, McLaughlin, Lobdell, Peiper, Montgomery, Lyons, Manning, Richmond, Majors, Rice, Millard, Packe, Peterson, Nelson, Reuter, Paterson, Osburg, Morris, Letchworth, McWilliams, Payne, Millar, Raney, Leppert, Merkel, Murphy, Phelps, Roberts, Lundstrom, Maule, McKenna, Maize, Olney, Rinehart, Mennie, Richter, Richter, Lowther, Meffert, Paden, Pender, Nelson, Meadows, O'Brien, Menke, Mathis, McAllister, Riehl.

Freshmen

As the big wheels of the junior school, the freshmen tried to provide good examples for their younger schoolmates. The freshman class was a well united and active group. Miss Epps was the class counselor.

At the beginning of the year they elected Don Buercklin president, and Alan Klein vice-president. These boys and the ten home presidents—Jim Brown, Bob Carey, Dick Clement, Dave Gale, Kit Gallenkamp, Tom Mulherin, Vickroy, Wuellner, Stoneman, Sample, Weinischke, Tower, Spencer, Weaver, Smith, Rosen, Weir, Smith.

Stauber, Woodson, Sisco, Schweider, Sundhausen, Shadwick, Wolfe, Samuelson, Schmitz, Simms.
Jerry Odor, Peggy O’Neal, James Pepoon, and Don Ramsey—made up the class cabinet.

The cabinet made plans for the various parties and dances held by the class. These included a Valentine party with games and dancing, a dance in April, and a picnic in May.

In the way of studies, a typical freshman’s program might have included English, social studies, algebra or general math, a language, and chorus or instrumental music.

The freshmen were also active participants in extra-curricular activities, including the Spotlighters—a junior dramatics club—Y groups, and after-school sports.
Eighth Grade

"Who is your bloc teacher?" "Do you have Miss Shepardson for math?" Such questions were on the tongues of many students as they returned to junior high last September. This year instead of being the wide-eyed seventh-graders, they were the seemingly all-knowing eighth-graders.

This year the eighth-grade class was one of the largest ever at Webster. It was under the guidance of Miss Webster as counselor. In the early part of the year the class elected Lawrence Heineman president and Pete La Chapelle vice-president. The class cabinet was composed of these officers and the nine homeroom presidents, who were: Sam Brown, Dave De Vos, Hudson Hellmick, David Hillemeyer, Jerry Hope, Beth Miller, Herschel O'Kelley, Jon Thompson, and David Tuttle.
Every student was required to take English and social studies—combined and called "bloc"—math, health and science, home economics for the girls, general shop for the boys, gym, and instrumental or vocal music.

In the way of social activities the eighth-graders were enthusiastic participants of many groups. One of the favorite pastimes of the boys and girls was the evening dancing instruction series sponsored by Mrs. Laura Sutter.
The seventh-graders entered school last September looking forward to their high school days with a great deal of enthusiasm.

At the beginning of the year, since they were still trying to become used to the newness of high school, the seventh-graders didn’t elect any officers. In the spring, however, the nine home-room groups organized and elected a president and vice-president.

As their first year of junior high work all the seventh-grade students were required to take “bloc”—a combination of English and social studies, math, one semester of science and one of crafts, speech, and vocal or instrumental music alternating with gym. A system of supervised library reading designed to give the student a variety of reading material was used this year. It was also in this year that the pupils first became acquainted with the various high school sports—football, basketball, volleyball, softball, and baseball.
Miss Jackson, the class counselor, had the difficult job of getting the students accustomed to their schedules and new surroundings. Each student had a planned thirty-minute conference with her. At a majority of these conferences the parents attended and discussed with Miss Jackson the pupil’s guidance record card, achievement tests, and any problems the student might have had.

The seventh grade had several class assemblies, held in the Little Theatre. These assemblies consisted of a variety of programs, including outside entertainment, as well as various talent assemblies put on by the speech and music departments.

The seventh-graders were eager participants in sports and other extra-curricular activities. Several were members of the Science Club sponsored by Mr. Wehling, while others were square-dance enthusiasts and attended the Square Dancing Club.

Activities

By active interest and actual sharing in the many activities we learn the proper balance of leadership, cooperation, and responsibility.
Did you notice the fathers of the football players wearing their son’s number and proudly sitting together watching their boys play at the Webster-Clayton football game? This was just one of the activities planned by the newly organized Lettermen Club. Other activities during the year included lectures concerning athletics, setting up rules governing the awarding of athletics letters, and providing ushers for the basketball and football games.

To become a member of the club a boy must be a junior or senior and must have won a major letter. A boy who only has a minor letter may become an associate member if he fulfills all other requirements.

All four coaches helped the club get under way and acted as sponsors. The officers were: Dave Miller, president; Alan Schlatter, secretary; and Buck Weaver, treasurer.
This organization has been quite active since ninth grade. It has had a strong membership and this year reached a count of sixty-nine girls.

The club has done several service projects, one of the most recent being at Christmas time when they helped an underprivileged family. A turkey was bought, and each member donated a can of food.

One of the club's most interesting programs was held just before Christmas when Mrs. Stafford spoke on the wrapping of Christmas packages. Many new and original ideas were presented to the group, and the girls became quite enthusiastic.

To end the year right, a party was held at the "Y", after which the girls had a slumber party.

The officers for the year were: Mary Alice Stafford, president; Carolyn Clark, vice-president; and Pat McGee, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Trembly has been the sponsor of the group for three years.

Senior Girls Club

This year as in the past Hi Y 50 has done much to encourage friendship and to help its members become better citizens of the community. After the traditional Thanksgiving football game, the Hi Y's of Webster and Kirkwood co-operated in presenting the annual Friendship Dance. Also four boys were sent as representatives of the club to participate in a Youth and Government program in Jefferson City. The program was sponsored by the national Hi Y. The members also took part in a current-events quiz program over the radio.

Other activities of the club included publishing the Buzz Book, working a booth in the all-school carnival dance, and the giving of several parties for members and their dates.

The officers for the first semester were: Jim Fell, president; Bill Butler, vice-president; Bob Hunsaker, secretary; and Jim Mohler, treasurer. The sponsor for the club was Les Frailey.
The 10th Grade Y Teen elected the following officers to lead it for 1949-1950: President, Abby Sharp; vice-president, Barbara Speegle; recording secretary, Harriet Lauth; corresponding secretary, Ann Johansen; treasurer, Barbara Hicks. Their sponsor was Miss Amend.

There were three committees: Service, Social, and Program. These met on alternate Fridays from the regular meetings. One of the programs for meetings included a talk by a representative from Lammert’s Furniture Store. He talked on furniture and interior decorating. A woman speaker reviewed the spring fashions at another meeting.

A Y Teen sextette was formed this year which sang at a banquet given for all Y Teen groups in the St. Louis area. One of the Christmas activities was a visit to the old folks’ home. The girls sang Christmas carols and served cookies and made it possible for everyone to have a very good time.

You said you thought there was a skunk loose on the second floor? I suppose you forgot the Chemistry Club was meeting. As a matter of fact, you might have gotten a whiff of these odeurs almost every other Tuesday, for these were the days the Chemistry Club held their meetings.

Membership was open to anyone taking chemistry, and, since attendance was not compulsory, only the people who were particularly interested took part. The purpose of the club was to further the student’s interest and knowledge in chemistry.

At each meeting an experiment was usually given by one of the members. One of the most interesting experiments was the attempt to make mirrors by plating glass with silver. Instead of plating the test tube, the beaker became plated.

The leaders for the year were: Alan Eschenroeder, president; Phil Brumbaugh, vice-president; Anne Rinehart, secretary-treasurer.
Have you ever broken a pinata at Christmas time, played realistic Spanish games, or seen splendid movies about Mexico? This year at the meetings of the Pan Am Club, many activities were planned to give all students who wished to extend their knowledge of Spanish beyond their classroom studies a chance to become better acquainted with the language. In addition to the value gained from the movies and parties given by the Pan Am Club, its members improved their speaking ability of Spanish by using it when talking among themselves.

Miss Doud and Miss Sutherland, the sponsors of the club, gave much aid in assisting the officers to plan and to carry out the program for the year.

At the beginning of the year the club elected the following officers: Carolyn Clark, president; Barbara Davis, vice-president; and John Boyce, secretary-treasurer.
This was one of the most successful years for the Latin Club. Probably one of the best reasons was the really top-notch slate of officers. Oliver Biederman was president, Mary Ruth Schlotterbeck, vice-president; Meryl Schmidt, secretary; and Loretta England, treasurer. Willa Mae Fisher was historian, and Danny Mack revised the constitution. Among the most interesting meetings were Christmas, with Santa Claus and an auctioneer, and Valentine's Day, with a Valentine box and love stories from Vergil. The Latin Club also sent fifty dollars this Christmas to the Farmington Orphanage recreation fund. It was greatly appreciated.

This was a year to remember, and that's just what all of us will do.
Salute! The Latinus Rumor isn't really all written in Latin, but you can find just about everything in it at some place or other. Everything from the origin of Valentine's Day to the latest little moron joke was in the past year's issues. You could probably have found something about the kitchen sink if you had looked for it. Loretta England, editor, and Mary Ruth Schlotterbeck, assistant editor, had the job of consulting with Willa Mae Fisher, copy editor, and Danny Mack, head of the joke department, about every month's issue.

The Latin Week issue this year was especially good. Mary Alice Stafford, typist, cut so many stencils that she dreamed about it at night! The circulation of the paper was raised to 100% in Miss Farmer's classes, and to quite a large percentage in Miss Campbell's.

And now, from Latinus Rumor, Vale!
The purpose of the Girls' Athletics Association is to promote good sportsmanship and conduct among the girls who participate in the different sports, and to further good relations between the different schools of the county.

This year the Girls' Athletics Association served hot dogs and cokes at the football games played at the Webster Memorial Stadium. They also sponsored the annual Sports Day in basketball played at Webster and provided the refreshments afterward.

To become a member a girl must earn 100 points by some approved method. After she earns her points she is initiated into G. A. A. and may continue to earn points for her letters and cup. The first letter awarded is for earning 1000 points; the next letter is for earning 500 points in addition to the original 1000, and the cup is awarded for a total of 2000 or more points.
The most publicized activity of the G. A. A. was the Kampus King Backward Dance given in the spring. One boy was crowned Kampus King for the year. Square dancing plus some wonderful food was available. The Awards Banquet was the last social event of the year. The moms were invited to see the awards given out and the new members initiated.

We don't get sore the day after; we get sore the day after the day after,” reported the members of the Riding Club.

The enthusiastic organization started the year off right with a picnic early in October at the Bar K Ranch. The girls went riding in the morning and then ate a picnic lunch. Immediately more of these enjoyable trips were planned.

The club has spent most of its time in learning types and breeds of horses, gaits, and the fine points of horsemanship. Some of the members have done some drill riding at Missouri Stables and have found it educational and entertaining. Several of the girls entered the horse show at Missouri Stables in April.

The officers were: Jocelyn Moehlenpah, president; Gwynneth Davies, vice-president; Elizabeth Burton, secretary; Mary Killian, treasurer; and Barbara Weiffenbach, historian. Miss Sutherland was sponsor of the group.
"Parlez-vous français?" If you can't, it was a good thing you didn't try walking into Room 108 on the first or third Friday of each month. Those were the days Le Cercle Français held its meetings, and all business and minutes were carried on in French. The purpose of the club was to acquaint its members with the French people, their customs, and traditions.

This year's activities included a quiz program, several trips to the Art Theatre to see French movies, a talk by Joan Gray, who lived in France for several months, and the annual Jour des Rois. The big event of the year was the club's trip to Ste. Genevieve, the oldest French town in Missouri.

The club had one of its most successful years under the sponsorship of Miss Woods and the good leadership of its officers, who were: Barbara Davis, president; Bill Butler, vice-president; Cissie Hornbein, secretary; and Mead Metcalf, treasurer.
"Everything's up-to-date in Kansas City", including the nine members of the National Forensic League who went there for the State Speech Meet this year. The trips up and back on the Missouri Pacific Eagle were financed by the school activity fund. Two students from Webster won ribbon awards and one other placed in final competition. As the saying goes, a good time was had by all!

Officers for the year were: Loretta England, president; Ray Harrison, vice-president; Jeanne Espenett, secretary-treasurer.

During the year parties and picnics were held at irregular intervals. At Christmas there was a party, complete with mistletoe and alums home from college, at Don Broadus' home. Aside from parties, there were speech meets at different schools in the vicinity. Webster Groves High has the leading N. F. L. chapter in Missouri this year.
For the past two years strange cries and unusual equipment have regularly invaded the wrestling room. These properties belonged to the recently revived Fencing Club. This group elected Bill Beattie as its president and John Craig as its secretary-treasurer. Under the skillful instruction of Mr. Tracy W. Barnes, students interested in fencing improved various strokes and techniques this year. A motion was passed to admit girls to the club, thus giving them the opportunity to learn more about this fascinating art.

The Fencing Club appeared publicly during basketball halves now and then. At these demonstrations duels were staged among the different members.

Since the club was formed primarily to increase interest and skill in fencing, business meetings were unnecessary. Therefore, meeting nights were given over entirely to practice sessions. After such an interesting year, this group can expect to enjoy many more sessions under the sponsorship of Mr. Brucker.

The members of the Camera Club, under the leadership of Mr. Ogle, spent a very busy year. The activities of the organization included field trips to photogenic places, visiting Wallace Williams Studio to learn about professional photography, holding print clinics, visiting the Art Museum, hearing lectures on photography, and distributing the identification pictures.

The officers for the year were: Jack Allen, president; Gary Weiss, vice-president; and Frank Zwygart, secretary-treasurer.

Under the direction of Mr. Leek the audio-visual operators gave another year of praiseworthy service to the school. One of the operators was always available to show films for a class group or some other school organization. Also the boys were responsible for the operation of the public-address system.

Officers for the year were: Roy Kennedy, president; William Paterson, vice-president; and Bob Ruch, secretary-treasurer.
The Distributive Education Club was organized in September, 1949. It is affiliated with national and state Distributive Education Clubs.

The purpose of the club is to supplement the regular classroom activities of the Distributive Education program, to help the members develop an understanding of the many problems in retailing, and to encourage the members to give their best in time and effort on the job.

Club activities this year included: weekly films on some subjects related to retailing; a monthly field trip to a retail, wholesale, or manufacturing establishment such as Famous-Barr, Rawlings Manufacturing Co., Independent Packing Co., Kroger Baking Co., and others; a Christmas party at the Webster Y. M. C. A.; attending the State D. E. Club Convention in St. Louis; sale of candy after school in the school corridors; and monthly contributions to the official state publication, The Circuletter.
The ninth and tenth grade dramatics club was something new this year. It was started by the Thespians for those younger students who were interested in dramatics and the giving of plays. A meeting was held every other Monday at which there was usually entertainment of some sort. Occasionally after meetings refreshments were served.

"Crazy Cricket Farm", a play in three acts, was the first production given by the Spotlighters. A program was also given at the old folks' home when they presented two one-act plays. A cast party was held afterward.

The officers for the Spotlighters were: Fred Stout, president; Bob Coleman, vice-president; Genie Plog, secretary; Sylvia Bode, treasurer; and Dick Clement, the sergeant-at-arms, who was fondly referred to as the "Bouncer". The sponsor for the club was Mrs. Brunner.
"It's all in a day's work"—maybe finding two live pigs sounds unusual, but for the Production Staff an odd job like that often occurred. When one saw a play, he seldom realized the hard work that was necessary to produce it. It was this hard work which made the play a success, but of which the praises went unsung. Under the sponsorship of Miss Siebert, more familiarly known as "Mom", the staff certainly aided the dramatics department in producing three wonderful presentations.

Almost every Saturday morning one could have found some members working on scenery, "props", or costumes. Members had the opportunity of working in any phase of production they wished, and they gained much pleasure and useful information from it. Fifteen hours of work was required to become eligible for membership in the Production Staff—a position full of fun and experience.
We may never see their names in lights, but no one could miss that shining light in the eyes of the Thespians when they were hard at work on a play. The requirements for membership in the Thespian Society included average grades, willingness to work, and one hundred hours of working on the production staff or acting in a major production.

By selling candy and by sponsoring the successful baby picture booth at the school carnival, the troupe this year financed the purchase of two glass bulletin boards which will be placed outside the Little Theater. Some of the other Thespian activities included a square dance, visiting dress rehearsals of plays given by other schools, and helping form the Spotlighters—the Junior School dramatic group.

The officers for the year were: Betty Pinckert, president; Boni Waddock, vice-president; Jackie Fisher, secretary; and Barney Gissenaas, treasurer.
Quill and Scroll is an honorary society selected from the members of The Echo and the Webster Echo.

The society is an international club and has certain requirements for membership. Among these are: a member must be in the upper third of the class; must be a member of either the school annual staff or the school paper staff; must have the recommendation of the sponsor of the publication of which he is a member; and must have the approval of the national officers.

The club was not very large at the first of the year, but several initiations were held in the second semester in which many students became members. The first initiation was held at Jeanne Espenett's home, to which the parents of the initiates were invited.

To be initiated into Quill and Scroll is an honor that many staff members look forward to.

After a year of hard work, the members of the yearbook staff proudly present to you the 1950 edition of The Echo.

The literary staff wrote the articles which accompany the pictures. To write an interesting and entertaining article was the aim of each writer. This involved interviews with sponsors of groups, and the final rewriting of the gathered information to achieve the desired results.

The co-editors were responsible for the dedication and theme of the book and decisions concerning the plan and divisions of the book.

The business staff provided ways to finance the annual. Funds were raised by advertisements, subscriptions, and taxes from pictures. The Echo also received profits from the school book store which it sponsored.

The entire staff participated in the circulation of the yearbook. Students obtained subscriptions either in their homerooms or in The Echo office.
Students know the Webster Echo as their school paper, crammed with news and gossip. They eagerly await each issue and watch for special editions such as the Beat Kirkwood Turkey Day paper and the extra large Christmas publication.

But few know what goes on behind scenes. The staff, headed by Managing Editor Carolyn Caldwell, and Business Manager Alan Eschenroeder, and sponsored by Miss Howard and Miss Fiehler, worked hard to perfect each Echo paper this year. Besides the actual writing, raising money played an important part in staff work. Selling Turkey Day Game programs and holding the popular Paper Doll Prom came under this heading. A banquet, at which the new editors and managers were announced, finished up the social activities.

Besides the school's appreciation, the Webster Echo has received a certificate of merit for the best publication commemorating National Newspaper Week.
A membership drive in September started the year's activities of the Senior Red Cross. The group has participated in many worthwhile activities such as filling and shipping gift boxes for overseas, decorating Jefferson Barracks at Christmas and on Valentine's Day, and packing Christmas stockings for the veterans at the Barracks. The members also helped with the Red Cross Fund Drive by delivering doorknob hangers to all the houses in Webster, ushering at the National Red Cross radio broadcast at Nerinx Hall, and decorating a window at the Paint Pot with a Junior Red Cross theme.

The group met on Wednesdays, and the officers were: John Woodyard, president; Louis Booth, vice-president; and Helen Canada, secretary. The sponsor of the group was Miss Saxon, and the head of the chapter house was Miss Shepardson.
After a successful membership drive early in the fall, the Red Cross embarked on an active year. Many projects were accomplished under the leadership of Mildred Costello as president, Bill Weaver as vice-president, Sally Godwin as secretary-treasurer, and Miss Roberts, sponsor.

Around Christmas time, Junior Red Cross members worked hard to fill gift boxes for children overseas. They were also kept busy in filling orders for stuffed animals that went to less fortunate children around St. Louis. The veterans at Jefferson Barracks weren’t forgotten in the holiday season, either. Students made ash trays and table favors for them.

But to do these charitable projects, the Junior Red Cross needed funds; therefore they helped the senior school in the Red Cross drive. Both hard work and generous contributions created the Junior Red Cross’ reputation of helpfulness.
Where are the biographies?" "Where can I find a poem for Miss Schowengerdt?" These and many similar questions daily greeted the ears of the busy and capable library assistants.

This year library assistants participated much more in the general work of the library. Under the efficient guidance of Miss Bynum they learned to help in filing, typing, and charging books in and out. They were also very helpful in answering the numerous queries of the no-doubt bothersome students.

Besides get-togethers for pure enjoyment, such as their Christmas party, the library assistants spent some profitable and interesting hours visiting the libraries of other high schools.

The many hard-earned pennies paid for library fines by students went for the purchase of new books. Each assistant had the privilege of selecting one book for the library.
Last year the decision was made that both juniors and seniors should be eligible candidates for the school cheerleaders. Those elected were Jim Fell, who was chosen captain by the group: Alan Eschenroeder, Park Kirk, Marilyn Lacey, Mary Lou Riggs, Barbara Lundstrom, Sandra Smith, seniors, and Joan Harrison, a junior.

A dinner at Jim Fell's house was followed by cheering at the first football game. This group also led cheers at a football luncheon given for the football team by the Rotary Club. They attended every football game, including the one at Jefferson City, and led the pep session around the bonfire the night before the traditional Turkey Day game between Kirkwood and Webster.

A dinner at Alan Eschenroeder's house brought the basketball season to a close. This year's cheerleaders were outstanding in regard to unity and cooperation.
Enjoyment, through appreciation or self-expression, of fine music provides beauty and an emotional balance with the ordinary routine of living.
The Webster Groves Concert Band is composed of eighty instrumentalists forming a symphonic band, and is under the direction of Mr. Lemcke.

The enthusiasm of the band was clearly shown, for they played at every home football game and presented different marching formations each time. The group had special formations for the games at Hannibal and Jefferson City, and on Turkey Day they combined with the Kirkwood band to put on a special Thanksgiving program between the halves of the football game.

The Webster Groves Rotary Club purchased a sweater with a W on it for each member of the band. These were proudly displayed at one of the band's later concerts.

The officers of the group were: Bob Hunsaker, president; Gary Weis, vice-president; Jefferson Brand, secretary-treasurer; and Gilbert Zavertnik, librarian. Jim Spillman was the drum major.
Music, music, music! That’s what you’ll hear coming from the Junior Band when you pass by the band room nowadays. The Bennett Band Books have their covers well worn by the fingers of all those busy little musicians. This year they had a Spring Concert which went off very well. In fact, congratulations were flying all around before it was over. The picnic last spring was a success, too. Boys, blue jeans, and baseball were the orders of the day.

Mr. Detering had his hands full with the riots of paper wads and talking girls for the first semester, but he had them pretty well straightened out by the time school ended. With these new band members in the Senior Band next year, Webster is sure to have the best band in the county and in the Music Festival as well. Good luck!
The high school orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Werner, met every morning the first hour.

This active group participated in many events throughout the year. One of the most important events was the annual St. Louis County Music Festival held at Webster during the latter part of April. Again, this year a concert by the combined band and orchestra was given in May to honor the graduating seniors. One of the orchestra’s busiest seasons was during the practice for the operetta, Naughty Marietta.

Except for the disappointment of not being able to attend the All-State Orchestra at Joplin, Missouri, in January, the orchestra had a very successful and interesting year.

This enthusiastic group elected competent officers for the year. They were: Pat McGee, president; Charlton Rogers, vice-president; Vivian Quevreaux, secretary; and Jack Hillemeyer, treasurer.
The band room was the scene of industrious and harmonious activity every day at third hour. It was then that the junior orchestra, composed entirely of junior school students, met. Under the able direction of Mr. Carl Werner, the orchestra accomplished a good deal of work.

The group elected its officers at the beginning of the year. They were: Bob Wurtz, president; Howard McGee, vice-president; Sally Berens, secretary; and Mary Carol Anthony, treasurer.

In the way of activities the members of the orchestra had a busy year. The string section played at all the elementary schools. The selections they played ranged from Bach to the modern composers. Several members of the orchestra were greatly honored by being chosen to play in the St. Louis County Orchestra. As it has always done, the orchestra participated in the Music Festival and the Spring Concert.
The A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Miss Replogle, started the year off right with a "get-acquainted" picnic at which the members organized groups and presented skits. This encouraged the feeling of unity which was preserved throughout the year within the choir.

The choir presented several assemblies for the school, a Thanksgiving program at which college songs were sung, and the annual Christmas assembly complete with Santa Claus. Also at Christmas time the group presented the inspiring and traditional Vespers service.

One of the choir's most important engagements was at Kiel Auditorium, when they sang for the State Teachers' Convention. The operetta Naughty Marietta, presented in March, was a huge success and a lot of fun for everyone.

Officers of the choir were: Mead Metcalf, president; Collett Wilson, vice-president; Gay La Chapelle, secretary; Barbara Lundstrom and Gerald Lee, treasurers; and Joan Conway, recording secretary.
Singing around a bonfire and presenting skits began the year's activities for Beginning Choir, which was directed by Miss Replogle. The choir members met every other day, alternating with gym, and therefore needed some extra practice. While the weather was still nice, they had another bonfire and rehearsed some of their songs.

The officers who led the group for the year were: Dick Ehlers, president; Joan Harrison, vice-president; Martha Cooney, secretary; Bill Hodges and Susan Pender, treasurers; and Jean Williams, recording secretary.

In December the choir organized carolling groups that went through Webster singing at each house where a candle was burning. The choir also sang in the Christmas Vespers which were even more beautiful than in the past.

All of the members helped make the operetta a success either by working on costumes and properties or by actually having parts in it.
Perhaps nothing is nicer for music lovers than to get together and share their talent. The members of the Chamber Music group felt this way and so they held monthly recitals during the year. All business was taken care of beforehand by Charlton Rogers, president; Esther Miller, vice-president; and Pat McGee, secretary-treasurer. Therefore a pleasant meeting of music, discussion, and refreshments was assured.

Those interested in joining the active group had to audition before the club, belong to a senior music organization, and participate in an initiation. Then they began working for music pins. These were earned with points gained by their contributions to programs, attendance at meetings, and outside concerts.

A Christmas party highlighted the year's program. Graduate members attended and played for their friends, thus proving the success and attraction of such a group.
In the spring the choirs presented the operetta Naughty Marietta. Many weeks of rehearsals were necessary for this outstanding production.

Naughty Marietta is the story of a contessa who escaped from a convent in Italy and, disguised as a casquette girl, comes to New Orleans to be married to one of the settlers.

Marietta has a dream melody and she believes he who can sing the finish to it shall claim her heart. She falls in love with Captain Richard Warrington, who has come to New Orleans to attempt to capture the notorious pirate, Bras Pique. Etienne Grandet, son of the Lieutenant Governor, asks Marietta to marry him, but before the ceremony takes place it is discovered that Etienne is Bras Pique. He is immediately captured by Captain Dick's men.

Captain Dick then sings Marietta's dream song and finds that he really loves her.
Chorus was a popular elective subject for many musical students. Boys entered mixed chorus while it was possible for girls to choose between a mixed or girls' group. All choruses were under the talented direction of Miss Amend.

The three girls' choruses, meeting on alternate days, ranged in size from forty to sixty in membership. The groups practiced various types of music, and though most of the time was spent in singing they sometimes studied musical theory. Two groups of girls were chosen from the classes to sing in the offstage angel chorus of the Christmas Vespers services.

The mixed chorus was composed of seventy boys and girls. They met every other day in the Little Theater.

The major event of the year for the choral groups was the annual Spring Program. This year, after much hard practice, it was held at the end of April. Participating in the all-vocal presentation were about four hundred students, including the mixed chorus, the three girls' choruses, and four seventh-grade choruses.
With a good balance of real sportsmanship and physical skill on the athletic field, we acquire the ability to work as individuals and as a team.
As the first of September rolled around, football became the favorite topic of conversation throughout Webster. Although the first few days were pretty warm, the players were eager to get started. Twelve lettermen were returning from last year, and Webster had hopes for a very good season. The Statesmen had one of the heaviest teams in the school's history, with a line that averaged anywhere from 180 to 200 pounds.

Webster Groves opened its season with a very impressive 18-0 victory over Granite City. Their second encounter, and the first home game of the season, was also a triumph as the Orange and Black beat C. B. C. 27 to 13. The following Saturday Webster played University City in one of the best games of the season, and, after the lead had changed hands several times, the Statesmen finally won, 18-13. Webster lost its next game to Maplewood, 19-7, but came back strong the following week to beat Ferguson, 40-0.
After having to postpone the Ritenour game, Webster played host to Clayton in a game that decided the Suburban League championship. The Statesmen trailed most of the way, but managed to put on a last-half rally that just fell short. The final score was: Webster 7, Clayton 12. Webster Groves finished out the season by beating Normandy, 6-0; trouncing Jefferson City, 46-0; tying Ritenour, 7-7; and beating Kirkwood in the traditional Thanksgiving Day game, 6-0.

The Webster team had an outstanding season, as it won, 7, lost 2, and tied 1. The team scored 175 points to their opponents' 64 points.
The sophomore football team, under the coaching of Mr. Gaines again, piled up an impressive record for the 1949 season with six wins and only one loss.

The first game of the season, the squad rolled over St. Charles 19-6. The second game, one of the toughest all year, was lost to the Maplewood Leafs, 6-7. The following week, showing a good ground attack, the sophs defeated Ritenour, 19-7. Taking to the air in the next game, the junior Statesmen beat Normandy, 26-7. Another hard game was with Clayton, with Webster ending up on the winning side, 7-6.

Using the air to score two touchdowns and then kicking the extra point, the squad won from their arch-rivals, Kirkwood, 13-12. In the last game of the season the sophomores swamped University City, 39-19.
1949 marked the first time Webster has had a freshman football team in nine years. It was coached by Mr. Tyke Yates and Mr. A. L. Marr.

The freshman eleven got off to a rocky start and never did regain their feet. Their record, four losses and no wins, is not a very good one; but through plenty of hustle they gained much practice and valuable experience. Their first setback was to Maplewood, 0-26. The following week, through some luck for University City and fate for Webster, they lost 13-19, with University City making the winning touchdown in the last 20 seconds of play. The freshman squad lost its last two games playing on its home ground, losing to C. B. C., 0-33, and to Normandy, 0-26.

Temporary captains were appointed for each game, and Kit Gallenkamp was elected captain for the year.
The 12-10 record which the Webster High basketball team possessed at the end of the 1949-1950 season was not, by most standards, indicative of an overwhelmingly successful year. However, when it is explained that the Statesmen had only one regular player returning from the previous season, and that the Suburban League, of which Webster is a member, is stronger than it has been in many years, most people realize that the record of the squad is certainly nothing to feel bad about.

Several of the defeats particularly should not cause too much distress, since the Statesmen lost to some of the finest teams in Missouri—such teams as Cleveland, the Public League champions; Normandy, co-champion of the Suburban League; Kirkwood, the No. 2 team in the state; and Lebanon, a contender in the state tournament.
Usually the Webster quintet proved extremely unpredictable. When they were hot, they were really hot, as can be evidenced by the 64-28 score run up against a good Ritenour outfit. Then, too, they could be cold, as was proven in the 40-32 loss to a very weak St. Charles team.

The two elected captains of the '49-'50 team, Bob Stoneman and Bob Gremp, also were the leading scorers. Stoneman was particularly potent, scoring over 20 points in almost one-third of the games in which he played. He finished the campaign with 308 points. Stoneman, a tall left-hander, also hooked in the game-winning basket against the district champions, Kirkwood. This game, a 42-41 Statesman victory, was definitely the high spot of the generally erratic campaign.

Basket Ball
The sophomore basketball team, coached by Mr. Moss, had a successful season this year, although they lost several close games.

The sophs opened the season here with a win over C. B. C. by the score of 41-26. The following week Webster beat Clayton, 39-27. Kirkwood, hitting for an almost unbelievable percentage, won the next tilt from the junior Statesmen, 43-30. Normandy was beaten in the next game, 30-34.

In a thrilling return game with Clayton, Webster won in the last few seconds of play, 45-44. Webster was then beaten by a tall and experienced University City team, 25-29. Webster then soundly trounced the Brentwood Eagles, 58-8, and the following week lost to Ritenour, 39-40. Traveling to Wellston, Webster won, 50-41. Cleveland then beat the sophomores, 37-34. Webster won the last three games of the season from Ferguson, 44-26; St. Charles, 51-43; and Maplewood, 44-34.
The freshman basketball team finished a highly successful season under the direction of Coach Moss. The team was composed of only freshmen boys except for one eight-grader, Pete La Chapelle. Their record of ten victories and two defeats has never been matched. The frosh started off the season against Hanley and lost a heartbreaker, 27-29. Next, Wydown was defeated, and Maplewood twice. The team entered the Maplewood tournament with high hopes of winning it. They rolled by McKinley, but were beaten by a hot Maplewood squad. Then they finished the season without a loss. They beat Hanley, Wydown, Maplewood, Normandy, and Kirkwood twice. The top four scorers were: Don Carter, 115; Bob Woodson, 78; Taylor Stoneman, 63; and Don Buercklin, 52. Don Carter was elected captain after the second victory over Kirkwood. The team scored 392 points for the season.

Wrestling

"Pinned!"

The wrestling team of 1949-1950 had a very successful season, winning nine meets and losing two. One of the highlights of the year was the victory over a strong Granite City squad which had beaten Webster in every meet the two schools had engaged in since wrestling began at Webster ten years ago.

The two standouts on the team were Walker Hutchison and Bill Ramsey. Both men were undefeated in league competition. Hutchison later became state champion in the state meet at Missouri University. Others who placed in this meet were: Bill Ramsey, Don Ramsey, Allan Schlatter, Dick Krewinghaus—second places; Louis Vogele, Dick De Long—third places; and Guy Davis—fourth-place honors. The Webster team compiled many points in the meet and with this great showing were able to place third in the state, following close behind Normandy and Ritenour.
Baseball

The Webster baseball team again had a very successful season. With a record of fifteen wins and five defeats the Statesmen gained their third consecutive Suburban League championship. In league play the team won twelve and lost only one to Normandy and University City. Captain John Wilson highlighted the season with his no-hit-no-run game against Wellston. Both John Wilson and Jack Cooney represented Webster on the All-District team.

Track

Coach Bryant's team had several fine individual track men, but the squad lacked depth. The team took third at the University City Invitational and fifth at the District. Some of the best times were: 100-yard, 10.3 seconds, Dick Copeland; 440-yard, 50.4 seconds, Jim Gelwicks; 880-yard, 2:01, Jack Hodges, and 2:02.8, Jack Lippincott; 200-yard low hurdles, 23.4 seconds, Bill Schultz; junior discus, 133 feet, Charles Miller.
Cross Country

Our first cross-country team made a very excellent showing, beating U. City and Maplewood and losing only to Cleveland in dual meets. The squad placed second at State. Jack Hodges, with a time of 9 minutes 43.4 seconds, took second place by a yard in the two-mile course. Bill Ramsey, John Rogers, Don Steinmeyer, and Buck Weaver placed—giving Webster sixty-seven points.

Golf

The golf team consisted of eight players, six of whose scores were counted in a match. Seven matches were won while five were lost. The highlight of the year occurred when the team placed third in the District Tournament.

To earn a letter a player had to take part in one-half of the scheduled matches. All eight boys received letters.
The Charles A. Roberts Trophy for Good Sportsmanship is awarded each year to the graduating senior athlete and major letter holder who, in the belief of fellow athletes, coaches, and school administrators, has made the greatest contribution during the year, or during his high school career, to the morale and good sportsmanship of athletics at Webster Groves High School.

The 1949 award was made to James Fitzgerald—major letter holder in football, basketball, and baseball.
Hockey, being one of the most aggressive sports, is less popular than the other sports.

Webster participated in Washington University's annual Sports Day. The seniors tied their game, whereas the juniors won and the sophomores lost. This day is always looked forward to by all the class teams.

This year's class teams played at Maplewood, Kirkwood, University City, and Clayton. The varsity had the same schedule, with the exception of the additional Mary Institute game. The seniors won none of their games, losing three and tying one; the juniors won three and tied one; and the sophomores had the same record as the seniors.

The class team managers for the year were: Seniors, Cissie Hornbein; juniors, Laura Quillan; sophomores, Jean Erber. Varsity manager was Mary Cole, and the captain was Carol Cassmeyer. The varsity squad had a rather mediocre season, tying four of their games and losing one.
Webster held its annual Sports Day on February 4th. The teams from all classes participated. The juniors and one sophomore team won, the seniors tied, and the other sophomores lost. A total of fourteen different schools from the county attended.

The class teams played Kirkwood, Maplewood, University City, and Clayton. This was the usual schedule and always affords interesting as well as highly competitive games.

Basketball is one of the most popular sports for girls. It is also one of the longest in length of season because of the many interruptions. It is a highly skilled sport, requiring much time and effort.

Varsity team was chosen from all the class teams. This is the highest team which can be made by any girl during the year.

Some of the girls received their intra-mural ratings for refereeing, scorekeeping, and timekeeping.
This is the third sport during the year in which girls may participate. Usually more girls go out for this sport than any of the others.

For the first time last year Webster played Affton and Bayless, as well as the other regularly scheduled schools. They hope to continue this during the coming years.

Volleyball is not as highly skilled as the other sports, but still contains many skills which few are able to master. Class teams and varsity are also chosen in this sport.

This year the girls’ varsity challenged the boys’ team to play a game. They played their own rules on either side. We hope that this will become a year-to-year event, for it is quite interesting to both teams.

Many girls received their intra-mural ratings in this sport. They may become rated as referees, scorekeepers, or timekeepers.
Softball is the last sport offered to girls at Webster, and gives them the opportunity of playing more girls.

Webster played the usual opponents, always having the accustomed good games. The schedule for games is made early in the year, and therefore the weather is not always suitable when time comes for the game. For this reason many postponements are made. Rain or cold weather are the most common causes of a postponement or a complete cancellation.

The good sportsmanship taught in the sport is as important as the score which results. Softball is more of a team sport than most others, thereby giving a better opportunity for working with other people.

Class teams were selected by Miss Daniel and later she selected the all-important varsity. All girls are eligible for class teams, but only those on the class teams may make the varsity.

During the latter part of each year the seniors elect twenty of their classmates who they feel have made the most outstanding contribution to school life at Webster. Each senior is given a list of all the members of his class who rank scholastically in the upper half. From this list he votes for the ten boys and the ten girls who, in his opinion, best deserve this honor. The basis for election includes a student's character, personality, initiative, and general contribution as a citizen of Webster High. The results are tabulated and the ten boys and ten girls who receive the greatest number of votes are called the twenty most outstanding seniors.

The Class of 1950 chose the students whose pictures appear on this page as the twenty most outstanding seniors of 1950.

MT. PALOMAR PROFESSORS ASTOUNDED BY WEBSTER HIGH DISCOVERY

200-INCH TELESCOPE TO GO TO HIGHEST BIDDER FOR SCRAP GLASS

Three Webster High students have amazed the scientific world by the revolutionary discovery that the orbit of the Earth is rectangular in shape. Philip Brambaugh, Arthur Bobc, C.D., and Alden Mead, E.F., are the geniuses whose discovery caused the suicides of several well-known astronomers and the mutilation of the grave of Galileo, the proposer of the old myth.

"It was easy," said Ruch on being interviewed. "Using our Lone Ranger Detective Telescope Ring, we observed the effects of Omicron Ceti, The Great Nebula of Andromeda, Ceres, and other extra-terrestrial systems upon the perihelion and aphelion of Mars’s moon Deimos and upon the shape of Cassini’s division in the rings of Saturn."

"We easily evolved the formula (See blackboard in Doc’s room.)

based upon the axiom

(See blackboard in Miss Toner’s room.)

"This determination is not entirely accurate, however, because Doc Schulz’s crystal ball was affected by atmospheric conditions and his Oujia board was slightly metaphysical in its fourth dimensional hyperparabolic turb-encabulator.

When questioned concerning this discovery, Doc Schulz said, "It’s a students’ project," Mr. Leek offered the valuable comment, "Hm-m-m-m . . . " And Miss Toner said, "It doesn’t make a spoonful of difference."

DEAR BILL:

It seems impossible that it’s now 1970—twenty whole years have passed since that spring day when we walked out of good old Webster High for the last time. Since you left for Europe right after we graduated, I thought you’d like some of the latest news about our old classmates.

Did you hear about Zane Peavey? He’s now a foreign diplomat, well known for his ah-spicy language. Next month he is being sent on a secret mission by the War Department to Ibankarie to see if the king’s dog had five or six puppies.

And who do you think I saw yesterday playing at Carnegie Hall? It was none other than that great Mead Metcalf. The maestro, as it is his custom, reserved the boxes for his fiancée and the first balcony for his fan club.

Also in the field of music, our good friend Barbara Davis made a personal appearance before the king and queen last month. She chose to sing a selection from an operetta she was in during her youth. Do you remember "Naughty Marietta"?

Have you read the latest novel by Robert Whitesitt? It is entitled "Love To Watch Things Burn." It is all the rage in New York now—you mustn’t miss it.

Did you know that Carolyn Clark was recently elected one of the ten best-dressed women in America? I do, I did you know that Don Henley has recently received wide recognition after the release of his latest masterpiece, "Thirteen Days of Loneliness"?

Your friend William Paterson developed a remarkable new car which is guaranteed to cause its owner no trouble. This automobile has no tires, no body, and no engine. This new car will soon be on the market in the U.S.

Sandra Smith asked me as a special favor to inquire if you have met any eligible bachelors during your trip abroad. Sandra at thirty-eight still isn’t married . . . poor girl, she didn’t ever have any boy friends!

Last month John Roseborough, senator from the third district, received publicity for carrying on the longest filibuster on record—three weeks.

Whom do you think I met in Florida last week sunning on the beach? None other than my old schoolmates, Sally Derjen, Sheila Handley, and Nancy Miller. They were vacationing while their husbands, all major-league baseball players, were in spring training. Nice life.

Babsy Ramming has just been awarded a medal for knitting the most argyle in 1970. Lois Lagger proved stiff competition.

Well, Billy, I must close now, although I could easily write lots more. Everyone in our 1950 class has been doing most unusual things.

Goodbye for now.

CLARE.

TELEVISION IN 1960

What a difference ten years makes in television! Besides all these new 1960 improvements we have had a whole new crop of celebrities to watch. And lots of them are from our old Webster Class of 1950. Let’s tune in.

There’s a news reel on now. The cameramen for senator in the next election are being presented. Look at Ollie Biederman beam. He’s a sure winner. His record proves that. Why, I remember when . . . Oh, look! Frank Dinner, U.S. Ambassador, is shown in a conference with Russian officials. He’s doing well as a diplomat. Here’s John Roseborough. He just won a big contest for finishing the statement, "I like French because . . ."

Oh, oh! Commercial time! Marilyn Lacey thanks toothpaste for her famous smile. Remember when she was crowned Echo Queen by Buck Weaver? She stuck to the news. There goes Miss Ashby and other top-notch scientists compare their latest theories. Gosh, all this the product of Webster! And here comes more talent. Johnny Hendren has just been signed up by the Mets. Bill is signing off now with another commercial. Which Warren twin’s teeth are real?

It’s time for a musical interlude with Charleton Rogers and Esther Miller. They’re both climbing high in the music world.

Here comes Aunt Daphne’s Cooking School Program. She’s going to demonstrate The Easy Way. "Miss Farmer Yep and Biederman devolve on to the rings of Bame . . ."

"I want to do you a favor. Do you think it’s just because I was never a girl?"

"I think you’re mistaken."

"Don’t be silly, it’s because I am in homeroom. And here come Guadalupe. I am in homeroom.

There goes the first wagon. And who do you think is in the wagon? It is entitled "Love To Watch Things Burn." It is all the rage in New York now—you mustn’t miss it.

Did you know that Carolyn Clark was recently elected one of the ten best-dressed women in America? I do, I did you know that Don Henley has recently received wide recognition after the release of his latest masterpiece, "Thirteen Days of Loneliness"?

WEBSTER HIGH IN THE FUTURE

Webster Groves High School. That’s what the engraving above the door says. But this building certainly doesn’t look like my old school; but wait, there goes Miss Farmer. Yep, this is Webster, all right.

That’s odd zooming sound in the sky? Looks like . . . My Gosh! Helicopters! All the students have ditched their jalopies. And they’re landing on the roof. They still seem to be having trouble in dodging those speed-limit signs. Guess there always will be rules and regulations.

There goes the first bell and everyone is rushing off to class—in trains! Little passenger cars with shiny letters on the sides. DESIGNED BY ALAN ESCHENROEDER. I’ll just get in one and — wow! That was quick. Here I am in homeroom. And here come the announcements through a loudspeaker system. Looks like Jim Mohler’s work. He always was good at such things.

There’s Alden Mead’s pencil sharpener on the wall. Doesn’t take any hands to operate it. ‘Course that puts quite a strain on the toes. Good thing that they have a capable doctor like Bill Butler down in the clinic to take care of any accidents.

The last five minutes of homeroom are given over to entertainment now—a day. The French chorus is billed for this morning. Wonder who—why, there’s Claire Louisa, Pat Rheil, and Gretchen Benzel! Shades of "Naughty Marietta." Time for first hour. I’ll walk, since there’s thirty minutes between classes. Golly, these deep, leather sofas lining the walls now are tempting. The television sets built into the walls are nice, too. And just in case someone might forget about getting to class on time while enjoying these much-needed improvements, he can write out his excuse on blanks thoughtfully supplied by the Student Council.

Webster High has certainly advanced. Why, when I think of walking to classrooms in four minutes, all this doesn’t seem possible. Progress is really wonderful. And, of course, the next step is to eliminate classes.

Only 90 yards to go!

Picture wise!

"All that goes up . . ."
think it all started back around "Marietta" time!

And look at these stunning creations modeled by Pat Du Bose and Morgan Pitcher. They're just what every well-dressed couple needs.

The last feature on our 1960 television roundup is a debate on world problems by Mary Ruth Schlotterbeck and Willa Mae Fisher, both prominent speakers.

Webster seems to have a knack for turning out success stories. Of course, the fame of our classmates is no surprise. We knew all the time that it would happen.

CLASS WILL

To the Class of '51 we leave:

... Semester exams
... Hurvey Woodson's winks
... Mary Cole's and Mary Killian's red hair
... Todd Evans' and John Semmelmeyer's height
... Chink Schlatter's wrestling ability
... Bill Cook's and Barney Gissenaas' pipes
... "Staffy" Stafford's flying fingers on the typewriter keys
... Jeff Brand's dogs
... Margie Rudulph's argyle sock needles
... Bob Stoneman's basketball playing
... Gay La Chapelle's friendliness
... Philip Muth's brief-case
... Loretta England's debating
... Nancie Miller's sparkle
... Elizabeth Burton's friend. "Magnolia"
... Buck Weaver's leadership
... Jack Hodges' winged feet
... Webster High.
